Whoooping cough prevails in this community.
Sickness, as a general thing, is abating, though we have a few troublesome cases.

Five of the widow Leasure's family are ill of typhoid fever; her oldest son, Buck is very low and is not expected to live.

Mrs. Frank Rowe, of this place has typhoid fever.

Aunt Manerva Warden who has been ill with typhoid malaria is convalescing.

Miss Georgia Hoover is visiting her friends at home these last two weeks.

Rev. Mr. Taylor preached a series of able sermons at the church at this place; commencing the first Sunday and continuing till the second preaching at night; there were no visible results, though he was favored with good audiences.

The organization of an interesting Sunday school yesterday is probably a result of the meeting.

Mrs. R. P. Rowe is sojourning for the time with Mrs. J. P. Rowe. Mrs. Rowe's long and close confinement in the post-office at Hartford necessitates a little rest.

The long and fearfully dismal winter with all its woeful calamities, is gone. I hope not to return and the most delightful springtime spell the oldest inhabitant ever witnessed this early in the season has taken its place.

W. P. Rowe & Son have opened a large stock of new goods in the Sam Morton store house; they are having a good trade. M. H. Rowe, of the Springs, Lock firm, came down and assisted in opening the goods. He returned last Friday.

S. W. Jones is remodeling his two store houses; he also keeps a good stock and is doing a good business; he has handled between six and seven hundred dozen eggs since the middle of January.

Esq. W. L. Rowe's court last Wednesday the last of his term was well attended, though there was but one case tried, that one lasted throughout the day.

Out sawing and plant bed burning are about through with and the people are busy repairing fences and preparing corn ground.

Some tobacco unsold yet and some that is sold to be delivered.

W. L. Rowe is building another barn, which, when completed, will give him two of as fine barns as are to be found.

J. M. Bishop is constructing over a mile of wire fence.

P. E. Hocker, late of Beaver Dam, has moved to his father's and will make a crop there this year.

Jack E. Rowe and family visited his father's family Saturday and Sunday. Robert Tate killed a hog some time ago that weighed 350 pounds.

Mr. James Barnett, of Hartford, was in our section looking after tobacco last week.

Uncle Bob Rowe will spend a month or so at the residence of Prof. W. B. Rowe, near Island Station, McLean county.

Andrew Williams went to Island Station a week ago to teach a three months subscription school; I understand he has a good school.

Willie Rowe with Barday and Rian Russellville made a short visit to our town a week ago.

Mr. Jimmie Render, of Butler county, was mixing with friends and relatives here a week ago.

Dr. Coffman and family visited relatives of Mrs. Coffman on the other side of Rough creek.

General Debility and Liver Complaint.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D. Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir-My wife has been taking your "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Pelllets" for her liver and general debility, and has found them to be good medicines and would recommend them to the sufferers from liver complaint, sour stomach and general debility.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested his wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Texas Imponderables.

March 17th, 1883.

Editor Herald:
There has been some things lately published in your paper about this State which may lead to ideas of this country that are incorrect, will you allow me to give your readers a just description of our land, especially of Erath county, the county in which I live?

Texas is composed of various kinds of land, some of it is well timbered; other portions of it are covered with shrubs, but a great part of it is black prairie land of the finest quality, which gets richer and richer the longer it is cultivated, where it is cultivated well, it often produces 40 and 50 bushels of corn to the acre, and I have seen 45 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of oats raised on an acre of prairie, but the average of wheat is about 15 to 20 bushels and oats about 30 bushels per acre. Parts of the State is deficient in water, but about the streams, water is generally abundant. There are a great many never failing streams all over the State that furnish plenty of water for the stock.

People in coming from the old States often expect when they get here to make their abode among a rough, wild, rowdy set of Texans, but I tell you the truth is when they come and get acquainted with the inhabitants, they find that they are as civilized and intelligent as those they came from. Our people should no longer be called robbers and cut-throats. We have churches and schools in almost every neighborhood.

In this county, 15 years ago, the red man's whoop was often heard; but what a change; every portion of it is now dotted with houses; here and there someone is preparing himself a home. It is settling up rapidly with a high class of people; a great many of them just from the old States. There is a great deal of land yet uncultivated and I would be glad to see it taken up by industrious men; we ask such to come and help us to develop this country.

Our wheat is badly killed with the extremely cold winter; few farmers have half a stand left.

Adjutant Forbes, of Sergeant Remus T. Whittinghill, Post No. 11 Grand Army of the Republic at Fordville, in his memoir of Sergeant Whittinghill says:

"Who would have thought, as the Sergeant led his young bride up the portico steps of his father's spacious country home on the day of his infamy to receive the congratulations of the almost countless throng of young and happy hearts that had assembled on this occasion, that the dark winged angel of death had marked their loving hearts so soon for his victims, the one a victim to that terrible destroyer of the human family, consumption, and the other to fall mortally wounded amid the thunder of the cannon at Fort Donelson, where all was excitement and uproar and in the midst of this bloody drama where death was holding high carnival and strong and brave men were falling thick and fast, and to die in a military hospital surrounded by strangers, five hundred miles from their kind friends and relatives were bending over the death-bed of his fond and loving wife and by a strange coincidence, they met in their coffins in the same room they had bade each other adieu some months before and the same military honor paid the one that was paid the other by the soldiers presenting arms as the coffins passed through their ranks and then the shrill voice of the Commander was heard:

"Right wheel! Reverse arms!" and with drooping colors and muffled drums, the troops followed the coffins to the one wide grave prepared for them. Here, the funeral service of the United States was read, the farewell shot was fired, the grave filled and their only child too young to realize the loss of its parents, was taken back to its home in the arms of a friend.

A Mistaken Marriage.

Some time ago a gentleman, well-known among commercial travelers stopped at a boarding house noted for old time silver ware and deep dishes. The house was operated by a widow, with whom, Jockles, the traveler, fell very much in love, that is, commercially in love, for Jockles has a wide open eye for business. What a life house this would be, he mused, the widow is very handsome and hasn't any particular education, but hanged if it don't gain a man in hand to make the best shift he can. I'll marry this woman and have a home.

Next evening he requested a business interview with the woman, and while they were seated in the parlor Jockles, who can be very tender, indeed, said:

"Mrs. Hotel, during my very short stay in this house, I have become very much attached to you."

"Yes, my dear Mrs. Hotel, I am a peculiar man and my love is inexplicable," and he looked at the furniture.

"I have never been in love before."

"My father wanted me to marry a rich girl once, a beautiful creature, but what is beauty when the soul is not there?"

"Now, you are a woman of soul and I love you, love you with a devotion that knows no imitation, that cannot be drowned."

"Yes," exclaimed Mrs. Hotel, throwing herself into his arms, "I have thought that such a streak of luck would strike me."

They were married the following night, and the next day Mrs. Jockles said: "I didn't know what I was going to do, but providence has provided you see I was hired to run this house while the owner was away." Jockles turned away and wept; he had married a servant woman whose husband died in the penitentiary.

SIMON ROBBINS.

THE LOST CHILD.

A Fate Worse than Abduction.

How Parents by a Lack of Precaution and Care, are Responsible for the Death of Their Children.

The moral and legal responsibility of parents, in the care of their children, is, fortunately, attracting the serious attention of the better portion of the entire country. The many instances of child beating, oppression and other forms of cruelty which have come to light, demand that something be done; and it is gratifying to know that the people are becoming thoroughly aroused.

Whether the cruelty be in the form of physical violence or physical neglect, the wrong is the same. The man or woman who neglects his or her own health may be pardoned, as the consequences fall upon the individual alone; but the parent or guardian who permits the throats of disease upon the innocent ones dependent upon him for protection, is independently liable in the sight of God, however he may appear in the sight of men. There are, however, parents that intend to care for their children, but who, through carelessness or the urgency of other duties, permit to become the innocent victims of disease. Such parents may be guilty of intentional wrong, but the disastrous results upon their children are just as great.

These are truths which must be manifest to every worthy parent and especially in a vicinity where the unknown effects of the atmosphere, the water and the general tendency to malaria are so great. There are many families in this locality who have been called upon to mourn unimply losses, even when the greatest care was exercised; but the experience of one only will be given. It is that of the late W. O. Thomas. The children were all most promising, but for some unexplained reason their health and strength seemed to gradually lessen until their friends feared they were the victims of consumption. One by one, they sickened and died until three had departed and two of the surviving brothers were taken ill. Their names were Herman and Edward. Herman, however, seemed the stronger of the two, and while his younger brother was confined to the house constantly and to his bed most of the time, Herman was able to be about but in so weak a condition that he had no desire to play. Eddie's symptoms were terrible. He found difficulty in retaining food upon his stomach, was restless and irritable and at his head frequently. At various times, three different physicians visited him, and each one told his friends the pitch of desperation by the three deaths that had so recently occurred, and the one staring them in the face, resolved to take the case into their own hands. They accordingly did so, and secured a remedy that was then being universally used and began giving it to him. Its effect at first was slight, but improvement was considered a good symptom. By degrees his strength returned; he was able to eat with a relish, then walk about the house and finally he regained complete health and strength. The boy was so rejoiced over his recovery that he, accompanied by the editor of this paper, went before Justice Charles K. Miller and made oath to the facts of his sickness as above related, and that he was restored to perfect health by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

Now, Edward Thomas' parents, while they lived, undoubtedly provided for the welfare of all their children, and yet the seeds of disease had taken deep root. Their care in one direction had been counteracted by unknown carelessness in another. Their love was sincere, but wholly misdirected. They should have known that children are just as liable to kidney and liver diseases as grown up people, and that the fatality of Bright's disease of the kidneys is just as great among little children as with adults. This is a serious subject. Hereditary traits, the after consequences of measles and scarlet fever, diphtheria and the passing troubles which so easily become chronic, all demand the greatest care and caution. No case of cholera infantum, measles, scarletina, or diphtheria was ever violent while the child's kidneys and liver were healthy. It would simply be an impossibility. These important organs of the body are just forming within the child and growing with its growth; and they can be trained to strength and health as readily as the little mind can be trained to truth and uprightness.

The importance of carefully watching the slightest troubles of the child and especially those affecting the kidneys and liver, cannot be too strongly emphasized. Children respond so readily to the proper remedies and are so sensitive to disease, that it is a sin to deprive them of one at the risk of incurring the other. By a judicious treatment these essential organs can be developed so that a strong constitution, able to resist the inroads of disease through coming years shall be the result. -Camden, Me. Herald.

Popular Education.

In the midst of all the clamor of discontented writers on the subject of common schools and the common school system, the action of the faculty of Hartford College is truly refreshing.

If a stranger was to take the articles commonly found in our papers on this subject, as the voice of the mass of the people, he would come to the conclusion at once that the system of education in this State was a failure. While it is probably true that our system of popular education is not all that could be desired, yet it is only in the minds of some discontented "knights of the quill," that it is an entire failure. Who would dare compare the present system with all of its imperfections with the system superseded by this? or, if you please with the old subscription school of our fathers? It has come to be popular in the minds of a certain class of self constituted judges to decry the school system of our State, imagining they tickle the popular ear. This is a mistake. An Englishman once said: "The jury system is England's proudest boast," so the mass of the people of Kentucky view the common school system. Whatever imperfections the theorist may conjure up and prate about in an unwilling public, the people know that it is a great stride in the right direction. And whenever they are convinced that their money is wisely and judiciously expended by honest and competent officials, they are ready to supplement the present fund if it be necessary to secure good school; but until this is the case, until they are satisfied that every dollar of their hard earnings is judiciously expended; they are not disposed to supplement the present fund. The theory of just officials on the subject of local taxation, is fallacious from beginning to end. They start out with the assumption that the State gives to the district a per capita for each child. The State does no such thing. The people constitute the State; they pay the taxes and the officials are only their agents, empowered to do certain things with their money. And just here I would remark that every effort to abolish officers regarded by the people as sinecures has been met with determined opposition on the part of these officials. The people are dissatisfied, but with the management of the same. They get too little income for the outlay; too much of their funds leak out of the public crib from the time it leaves the people's pockets until it gets into the hands of the poor hardworking teacher. There is too much theory and not enough practice. In view of these facts, would it not be well for us in the selection of a person to take charge of this important trust, to get a man who has demonstrated his practicality? Upon the efficiency of the head of this department depends largely the future of the public school system of our State. Assailed on all hands by objections, may be truly said that it is now passing through a crucial test, and upon the choice of the people for State Superintendent of Public Instruction largely depends the result of the issue. If the people would perpetrate the error of just officials and have it advanced and perfected in the manner they so earnestly desire; if they would realize the consummation of their proudest hopes, let them exercise great care in the selection of their agent. I submit these thoughts, hoping they may induce the people to give this subject more thought in the future and exercise more care in the selection of their officials than has characterized them in the past.

His Ma Had Got Home.

"When is your ma coming back?" asked the grocery man of a lad boy, as he found him standing on the sidewalk when the grocery was opened in the morning, taking some pieces of brick out of his coat all pockets.

"O, she got back at midnight, last night," said the boy, as he ate a few blue berries out of a case. "That's what wakes me up so early. Pa has been kicking at these pieces of brick with his bare feet, and when I came away he had his toes in his hand and was trying to go back up stairs on one foot. Pa hasn't got no sense."

"I am afraid you are a terror," said the grocery man as he looked at the innocent face of the boy. "You are always making your parents some trouble, and it is a wonder to me they don't send you to the reform school. What devilry were you up to last night to get kicked this morning?"

"No devilry, just a little fun. You see, ma went to Chicago to stay a week, and she got tired and telegraphed she would be home last night, and pa was down town and I forgot to give him the dispatch, and after he went to bed, me and a chum of mine thought we would have a 4th of July. You see my chum has got a sister about as big as ma, and we hooked some of her clothes, and after pa got to snoring we put them in pa's room. O, you'd a huffed. We put a pair of number one slippers with blue stockings, down in front of the rocking chair, beside pa's boots, and a red carpet on a chair, and my chum's sister's best black silk dress on another chair, and a hat with a white feather on, on the bureau, and some frozies on the gas bracket, and everything we could find that belonged to a girl in my chum's sister's room. O, we got a red parrot, too, and left it right in the middle of the floor. Well when I looked at the lay-out, and heard pa snoring, I thought I should die. You see, ma knows pa is a darn good feller, but she is easily excited. My chum slept with me last night, and when we heard the door bell ring I stuffed a pillow in my mouth. There was nobody to meet ma at the depot, and she hired a hack and came right up. Nobody heard the bell but me, and I had to go down and let ma in. She was pretty hot, now you bet, at not being met at the depot.

"Where's your father?" said she as she began to go upstairs.

"I told her I guessed pa had gone to sleep by this time, but I heard a good deal of noise in the room about an hour ago, maybe he was taking a look. Then I slipped up stairs and looked over the banisters. Ma said something about heavens and earth, and where is the huzzy, and a lot of things I couldn't hear, and pa said damnfo, and it's no such thing and the door slammed and they talked for two hours. I s'pose they finally laid it to me, as they always do, 'cause pa called me very early this morning, and when I come down stairs he came out in the hall and his face was redder'n a beat, and he tried to stab me with his big toe-nail, and if it hadn't been for these pieces of brick he would have hurt my feelings. I see they had my chum's sister's clothes all pinned up in a newspaper, and I s'pose when I go back I shall have to carry them home, and then she will be down on me. I'll tell you what, I have got a good notion to take some shoemakers wax and stick my chum on my back and travel with a circus as double-headed boy from Boreno. A fellow could have fun, and not get killed all the time."

And the boy sampled some strawberries in a case in front of the store, and went down the street whistling for his chum, who was looking out of an alley to see if the coast was clear. -Puck's Sun.

HER Majesty, the Queen Victoria, slipped and sprained her knee. She was improving at last account.

THE steamer, Burgundia, arrived at New York on the 23d inst., with the remains of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home Sweet Home."

A GERMAN who was lately married says: "It was easier for a needle to walk out of a camel's eye than for a man to get der lasht vord mit a woman."

WE accidentally omitted the credit from the parody on Maul Muller, which appeared in this paper last week. It was from the sharp steel pen of Wallace Gruelle, editor of the Breckenridge News.

GEO. STONE died on the 21st inst., from a fall from a wagon aged 31 years. Owensboro Messenger. Very unfortunate for the man and a very remarkable age for a wagon. Which is the chief end of the item?

MR. JOHN D. BARRAGE, of the Breckenridge News, and Miss Mollie Ditto, of Brandenburg, were married on the 14th inst., by Rev. D. Bowden. We are rather late about it, but there is no end to the good wishes that our heart holds for the happy pair. May there path be one of bliss.

THE papers are beginning to talk about candidates for President, but few prophecies are being made as yet. McDonald, of Indiana, seems to be the favorite of the Western Democrats, while there is no definite sentiment in favor of any man in the East. Hancock is talked of by some, but regarded as a dead weight by others.

IT is thought the office of Collector of Internal Revenue will be removed from Owensboro to Paducah soon, as the new Government building erected there will furnish much better accommodation than any building available in Owensboro. A potent objection to the removal is that Davies is the banner whisky county of the district, and the present location of the office is a great convenience both to the officers and the distillers.

PROF. W. B. HAYWARD, of Ohio county, and Col. E. M. Edgar, of Warren county, have announced themselves as candidates for Superintendent of Public Instruction. We do not know Col. Edgar, but we do know Prof. Hayward, and think him, unquestionably, the best man in Kentucky for the position. He has spent his life in the school room and has been a successful teacher. Everything about him is scholarly. He measures men by their intellect and not by their name or money. We hope he will visit us before the primary, so the people may see our ideal Superintendent. Bullitt Pioneer.

WE publish elsewhere in this issue a communication from a prominent citizen of Ohio county recommending Hon. E. C. HUBBARD, of that county, as a proper person to receive the Republican nomination for Attorney General. We have only one objection to Mr. HUBBARD's name being mentioned in connection with that office. He is entitled to a higher place, and would make a most excellent candidate for Lieutenant Governor, or, for that matter, would do the party credit as the head of the ticket. No man in Kentucky possesses a better record as a Republican than E. C. HUBBARD. Southern Progress.

ELSEWHERE will be seen a call by our efficient School Commissioner, Mr. F. L. Felix, for an Educational Convention to be held at this place next Monday. The cause of education should be dear to every citizen, and all should feel a sufficient interest to lend the meeting their presence if not their voice. The time has come when the people must take the school system into their own hands and not wait for tardy and inefficient legislators to idle away the rest of time and do nothing to emancipate our children from the slavery of ignorance. Let every man who can come do so, regardless of political affiliations. The school question is not a political one, and it behooves members of all parties to pull together for the advancement of the cause.

American Newspaper in 1883.

From the new edition of Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co's AMERICAN NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY, which is now in press, it appears that the newspapers and periodicals of all kinds issued in the United States and Territories now reach the imposing total of 11,196. This is an increase of 585 in twelve months. Taking the States one by one, the newspaper growth in some is very considerable. The present total in New York State, for instance, is 1,369—a gain of 80 in the past year. The increase in Pennsylvania is 48; the existing number being 943. Nebraska's total grew from 175 to 291, and Illinois' from 890 to 961. A year ago Massachusetts had 429 papers, now the number is 478. In Texas the newspaper output numbered the suspensions by 8, and Ohio now has 736 papers instead of 692. The most remarkable change has occurred in the Territories, in which the daily papers have grown from 43 to 63, and the weeklies from 169 to 243—Dakota being the chief area of activity. The number of monthlies throughout the country grew from 976 to 1,064, while the dailies leaped from 996 to 1,092. The figures given above are exclusive of Canada, which possesses a total of 606. It is interesting to note that the newly settled regions of the Canadian North-West are productive of newspapers as well as of wheat, for the number of journals issued in Manitoba was nearly doubled during the year.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Hon. E. C. Hubbard, of Ohio County, gets a Boom for that Place on the Republican Ticket.

HARTFORD, Ky., March 16, 1883.

Now that a Republican convention has been ordered to nominate candidates for the several State offices, it behooves the party to look around and select one to the very best men as standard bearers in the approaching campaign. I shall not presume to name candidates for all the State offices, but on the contrary, I shall leave that for older and more experienced politicians, with the bare exception of the office of Attorney General, for which position, I suggest the name of Hon. E. C. Hubbard, of this (Ohio) county; one eminently qualified and in every way fitted to discharge the duties of that office. He is about thirty-eight years old, and having commenced his mental training quite early in life, we must conclude that he has reached that period generally denominated "mature manhood." He was primarily destined by his parents to pursue a mercantile life, and when quite young, became the recipient of a thorough business training, which has subsequently been of great value to him as a lawyer. Later, he abandoned all such pursuits, and, in accordance with his earliest and ardent desires, entered upon the study of the law. Having diligently and successfully studied the legal science and practice under an able preceptor, Hon. E. D. Walker, late candidate for Congress in this district, he was admitted to the bar about ten years ago, and immediately entered into partnership with his learned preceptor and the law firm of Walker & Hubbard soon attained high rank in the profession.

The members, individually, also became prominent leaders in politics, not however, as seekers and holders of office and emolument, but as public spirited citizens. From the date of his admission to the bar until the present time, Mr. Hubbard has actively pursued the practice of his profession, and he is now and has been for years, widely recognized as an eminent, influential and upright lawyer, distinguished for his scholarly attainments, ability and success. His practice as a popular lawyer has been varied and extensive. Although he has never held nor sought any political position of profit, the characteristics which have secured him eminence in his profession have conduced to make him very popular with the people, and although often named for honorable positions, he has hitherto declined to be a candidate. Mr. Hubbard's learning and professional experience, combined with his general good qualities and agreeable manners, so well known to all who have met him, eminently attest his fitness for Attorney General of the State. With such a candidate, the Republicans can go into the contest, feeling fully assured that they have a candidate for this office, able and willing to meet any man the Democratic party may put up against him. It is hoped the prominent Republicans of the State will investigate, think over and discuss the fitness of Mr. Hubbard for the office indicated and the propriety in nominating him in May next. G. C. W. in Southern Progress.

THE CHURCH ORGAN.

How a Spirited Louisville Girl Expresses Her Sentiments.

There is a very bright and musical little lady in Louisville, aged fifteen, who recently made the effort of her life to get an organ for a little mission Sunday-school. Fascinated by the advertisements of some maker in the East whose organs had "golden tones," and other attractions, she ordered the organ and was swindled. Then the little lady made another effort of her life, and sat down and wrote the company a piece of her sarcastic mind, as follows:

I received your beautiful organ the 15th. I think it is the nicest thing I should put it in the wood-shed it would scare all the rats in the neighborhood away. There are five holes in the box which I suppose are meant for stops. I suppose the rubber in the doodlebox is meant for the swell. If you send me $11, and $2.03 for freight, I will send you the loveliest organ ever seen. I am going to get some wood, paint it black, cut some pictures out of wall paper, paste them on the wood, and I will have the most beautiful organ ever seen, resembling yours. It will always be said by me, and all who have seen the box, that the Union Organ Company is a fraud. I suppose that the voices in New Bedford are of the same "golden tone" as that organ. I would like to hear the singing if every voice in the Organ Company blends with that organ. We do not want such sounds of an organ in the great city of Louisville. I have a notion to put the box in our new Industrial Exposition so that everybody will be as thoroughly acquainted with the Organ Company of Massachusetts. I will now close. I just wanted you to know that Louisville has a better set of people, with better ears in it than your town of New Bedford. Louisville Commercial.

Traveler Heard From.

March 22, 1883.

Leaving Louisville on the 8th inst., I started by the L. & N. in search of "worth unknown" and yet to be made. My first stop was at Mumfordsville, an unimproved old town on Green river; it was told at this place that the finest Barley tobacco grew in the immediate vicinity; that on one occasion, several years back, that one hind, after taking the premium at the tobacco fairs at different points, sold at the enormous price of five dollars per pound in New York City. That on another occasion, one sold at one dollar and fifty cents per pound, so we can account for the eagerness with which foreign buyers laid up on Hart county barley.

What along the line does not look well at all; generally, the crop looks late, thin and lifeless.

At Cave City, we noticed names on the register of men and women from all parts of the United States, England, Germany, France and other European countries. All visitors to the famous Kentucky Mammoth Cave, which is 9 miles west of the city, yet in conversation with people there, we were told that there lived gray headed men within three miles of the cave who had never seen its grandeur.

Next was Franklin, which we must not fail to notice; a nice, city like looking town, in Simpson county, famous for fine stock, especially fine milk and butter stock.

Bowling Green has been left out, well Bowling Green is a nice little city, but the people were out of coal and we were told that there was a contract existing between the L. & N. R. R. and the Navigation Co., to the effect that no competition should exist. The R. R. Co. gets coal at 9 cents per bushel, the city at only 15 cents per bushel.

Gallatin, Sumner county, Tennessee, she boasts of the beautiful women; well, we'll pass.

Nashville, with sixty thousand population, is quite a business city; good public buildings, fine residences and people very courteous and agreeable. Among the public buildings is the Capitol, built entirely of native limestone taken from a quarry within the city limits; it is 206 feet high and is situated on an elevation 175 feet above the bed of the river and cost the State $100,000.

Washington Letter.

March 15th, 1883.

Contrary to precedent and prediction, the city witnessed on Saturday a cloudless St. Patrick's Day. Pious of green bunting, adorned with the green hair of Erin, dotted here and there in the morning air and notified those who feel no interest in St. Patrick's anniversary that the day had come again. The various Irish organizations paraded the principal streets, as is their wont, and though the day is not yet included in the list of legal holidays, the appearance of the streets, especially about the City Hall, where the procession was formed, indicated that business had been suspended for a time by a large part of the population of the city.

Before the parade, mass was celebrated at St. Patrick's church, and the sermon of the day was delivered by Bishop Keane, of Richmond, Va. The procession proceeded to the White House, where it was reviewed by the President, and here the throng was so great that the solitary policeman on duty could with difficulty keep the people off the portico. The line continued its march to Georgetown, returned to the City Hall and dispersed.

The plans for the improvement of the city during the coming year are so many that one does not know how to enumerate them, and new schemes are being constantly developed. Among prominent enterprises may be mentioned the Smithsonian Institution, which is being reconstructed and enlarged, Congress having appropriated $50,000 to carry out this work. The Garfield memorial church on Vermont Avenue is rapidly approaching completion. The popular Portland flats are to have an addition of sixteen new suites, and a leading real estate agent says he could dispose of a hundred similar apartments if he had them for rent. Work on the new pension building is now in progress on the north-west corner of Judiciary Square; the foundations have nearly been completed and the brick laying will commence this week with a force of 300, which will be increased. It is to be an imposing structure, after the manner of a Roman Palace, with its walls surrounding an interior courtyard and all its apartments communicating directly with the outside air and light. Gen. M. C. Melges, the supervising architect, has followed in a general way the plan of the great Italian Palaces, the first building of the kind ever attempted in this country. It does away with the dark halls and badly ventilated rooms that are found in nearly all the public buildings here and which have had such a deleterious effect upon the health government employees. It will not be ready for occupancy before the end of the year and will provide accommodation for 1,500 clerks. While every other evidence of progress has manifested itself in this beautiful city, the citizens still clamor for some public building here and which have had such a deleterious effect upon the health government employees. It will not be ready for occupancy before the end of the year and will provide accommodation for 1,500 clerks. Several of Owensboro's young bloods painted the town red Saturday night. The meeting at the Cumberland church is still in progress, and more interest is being created each succeeding night.

Hugh Raffle, a negro, and Ham Whitney, a small sized pale-face, indulged in a little fracas on Main street, Sunday night. Raffle was struck on the head with a heavy cane.

Mrs. Maggie Ray, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Della, left for Sherman, Texas, Tuesday morning.

Dr. John B. Leebler, a prominent young physician, died last week. His remains were taken to Evansville for interment.

A new Sunday paper will be one of Owensboro's features. Its initial number will be issued in April.

Three cases of small-pox are now reported in the city. Two of them being imported.

In Memory of Otho H. Williams.

On Monday morning last, the 19th inst., just before the day-dawn, Otho H. Williams quietly fell asleep in death, at the residence of his uncle, Dr. Geo. F. Mitchell, in Beaver Dam, Ky. As he spirited man with capital to build a new theatre, opera house or music hall of sufficient capacity for any possible occasion. But no one with sufficient means seems to catch the idea or see the utility or necessity of such an enterprise. Yet, every year, the city has gatherings and conventions of various kinds that bring thousands of people and there is no suitable building large enough to accommodate them. The fashionable season here is longer than elsewhere; there is much local interest in musical and dramatic matters; taste is as broad, and culture is quite as liberal in Washington as in some other cities that arrogate to themselves the sobriquet of the Paris or the Athens of America. The inaugural ball is a periodical occurrence and it would seem all these interests could be concentrated in the enterprise and insure its financial success. A grand musical festival is an impossibility at the National Capitol, where such projects ought to be fostered, and where they would evi-idently center if the one difficulty were removed. However, the city is yet full of promise for any public necessity to be deferred, and it is probable the year will bring forth a project that will meet all the requirements of the case.

Paradise Light.

March 24, 1883.

Your scribbler rolled logs to-day consequently he don't feel like writing to-night, but fearing this place will not be represented in your next issue, I cannot refrain writing.

Mrs. Nannie Wom, of Ohio county, is visiting friends here.

E. S. Terry, of Louisville, was mingling with his customers of this place last week.

The citizens of this vicinity are considerably excited on account of a report of there being two cases of small-pox at Rockport. Everybody should be vaccinated.

T. J. Roll came down in town Tuesday morning dressed in broadcloth and smiling. It is a boy—Ed Roll. Weight four pounds.

Misses Edie Taylor, one of Taylor-town's fairest flowers, and Jessie Shull, one of Cromwell's blue eyed belles, paid Paradise a flying visit last week. We would like to have them come freer and stay longer in the future.

John Muir and Porter Hunley, who live near this place, sold their crop of tobacco to C. P. Morton, at this place, for five and seven dollars per cwt.

Dick Taylor, of Ohio county, came into this vicinity Friday and bought a lot of young cattle of G. B. Vaughn, for which he paid eight dollars per head.

Dick is an honest and hard-working farmer, and we would like to see him do well with the cattle.

M. E. Ham leaves for Evansville to-night, where he will remain several days negotiating to replenish his stock. We think the matrimonial bee is still singing in his ear. We wish Matt success in his present anticipation.

I expect I had better close, as this is beginning to sound monotonous to me. COOK EYE.

Editor Herald:

Miss Dora Spurrier, of McHenry, is visiting friends and acquaintances at this place.

A candy breaking was given at the Baltimore Hotel last night to the little folks of the town, and it is useless to say they enjoyed playing and eating candy.

There was a double birthday celebration at Birge Thompson's on the 17th inst. Mr. A. V. Thompson celebrated his 21st and his grandfather, Mr. Thos. Duke his 75th birthday which were the same date. A number of friends and acquaintances partook of a sumptuous repast and it was altogether an enjoyable affair.

Archie Jones, of Fordsville, is spending a few weeks with relations here.

Miss Jessie Wigglesworth, of St. Louis, spent a few days here last week. Little Edie Jones has been very sick for the past week or two.

Bits from Beaver Dam.

March 25th, 1883.

Once more I will try and give a few items from our town.

W. J. Berry, we are glad to learn, is better.

D. W. Hocker is fast recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia fever.

manly and genial walk he had endeared himself to all, both young and old. He graduated at the Hawesville High School and held a position in the faculty of the same before he had attained his majority, and in his acquaintance it was found that he was a polished scholar, a refined and cultured gentleman. He was possessed of the highest sense of honor and pride. Manly, noble and dignified, yet he was amiable and gentle as a woman. Knowing him as we did, we feel that we can do him no higher justice and accord to him no higher encomium than by saying that he was truly the noblest work of God—an honest man.

Not only this, but he was a warm and true friend, a pure gentleman and a liberal, magnanimous citizen. One of the last acts of his life, of a public character, was to contribute and solicit contributions to a donation for the Rev. W. J. Finley, who had preached a series of sermons in the town. On his death he manifested the noble traits of son and brother by his repeated and tender mention of parents and sister. To his only sister he left messages of love and a beautiful keepsake.

These are some of the traits of his character. It is no marvel that he had endeared himself in the hearts of all, both young and old. An old gentleman, more than four score years of age, remarked to the writer of these lines that he had never met a young man of whom he had formed a higher opinion. This accounts for the universal sorrow that pervaded the town and vicinity at the announcement of his death. These explain the general turning out of the citizens of the town, both old and young, male and female, to follow his remains to the depot, from whence he was conveyed to his own boyhood home to sleep with the friends of his youth. These explain the solemnity of that gathered audience, the silent tears of strong men, the streaming eyes of gentle women and the bitter sobs of little children as they saw Otho Williams borne away—a corpse. So lately a stranger-boy, now a favorite.

We wish to say in this brief tribute to his parents and to the friends of his youthful home that though your grief may be great, it is shared by many hearts about this his adopted home. In the sadness attending the sudden severing of tender ties and bleeding heart-strings, you have the warmest sympathy of his associates here, and had though this disposition may be, we feel assured from his daily walk and dying declarations, that your loss is his eternal gain, and that his spirit has found a more congenial clime, where the "white robe" that greeted his eyes as they were swimming in death.

Otho Williams is dead. His body has been taken away to shelter in his native soil at Hawesville. But 22 years he had spent on earth, less than one who has lived, but in some sacred corner of many hearts his memory will be kept green.

OF ANOTHER AGE.

Gradually Supplanted by a Better Art. Certain Old Things are Done Away.

In the general reception room of the Western Union Telegraph building on Broadway, New York, are exhibited the coarse, crude and inefficient instruments of the infancy of telegraphy. They are only relics now. More perfect machinery has superseded them. Years ago what is now styled the old-fashioned porous plaster did some good service. The capacitor is gone. They were inefficient. Now all that is changed. ## PERSONALS.

Persons in town having visitors or any other item they would like in this column would confer a favor if they would inform this office. The town is not very large, but one hand can't get all over it every day and run a newspaper.

Misses Miller Greer and Mary Sutton, of the Taylorfield neighborhood pass a visit Saturday.

Woodford Truman, Esq., of Indiana, is visiting relatives in this county. He will remain several days yet.

Messrs Dick Stowers, and Ben Smith, of Sorghotown, have been in town the past week visiting friends.

Mr. J. L. Maury, of Elkton, Ky., arrived last week on a visit to friends and relatives. He was raised here and is an ever welcome visitor.

Mr. I. Johnson and wife nee Miss Frankie Hewlett, of Pleasant Ridge, were visiting the family of Mr. J. P. Sanderfer Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Willie Berry, of Beaver Dam, who has been very low with pneumonia, is now so much improved that he is able to be out. His friends here were surprised and glad to see him on our street Monday.

—Use "Homestead Fertilizers."

—Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

—When you come to town Monday don't fail to see the bargains in clothing offered by S. B. Bishop.

—Plymouth Rock eggs for sale by F. P. Morgan for hatching purposes. Hartford, Ky. 12-21

—We have a new 2 seat spring wagon with pole and shafts, we want to exchange for a young work horse; anyone wishing such, apply to Williams Bros. 12-21

—The Blount farm wagon is the best and cheapest wagon made.

—Mr. S. W. Anderson will return the latter part of this week from the east and the first of next week the new goods will begin to come. Look out for the biggest display of fine goods ever brought here. The Bazaar will surely have them.

—Spring goods just received at Henry Small's, which will be sold at cost.

—Stockraisers will note with interest the fact that the fine saddle and harness stallion, Lexington will stand the present season at Sullivan's stable in Hartford. Lexington is too well known to need any description. Rates, $5 to insure, $7 for the season.

—Opinion of eminent Dr. R. S. Stewart, President Maryland Hospital, Baltimore: I have used Golden's Liquid Beef Tonic for more than a year and recommend it as one of the most efficient preparations I have ever met with. It combines the virtues of food and tonic in a remarkable way, and I am satisfied has saved life when no other medicine could do so. Remember the name, Golden's, take no other. Of druggists generally.

—It is our painful duty to record the death of Mr. Charles Bennett from pneumonia, which occurred last Friday at his home near this place. She has been known all her long life for her many christian virtues, and her death is sadly mourned by innumerable friends and many relatives. We had not the honor of knowing her personally, but not to have heard her and her many excellent traits spoken of was to be a stranger to the portion of the county where she lived. The earth has too few of such women, and such a loss is great cause for sadness.

—Remember you can buy a good sewing machine with cover for $20 at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, black or brown, 50c.

—If you want bargains in dress goods call on S. B. Bishop.

—Buck Melton, near Ceralvo, died Friday of pneumonia.

—The wife of Thos. Newcomb is very low with consumption.

—Buy your garden seeds at the Red Front and save 20 per cent.

—Rev. Mr. Smith preached at the M. E. church Sunday night.

—The finest lot of seed potatoes (sweet or Irish) in Hartford, at the Red Front.

—20 barrels of "Homestead Tobacco, Corn & Wheat Grower" just received at the Red Front.

—Reuben Gross, living near Magan, this county, died Saturday with small pox. He contracted the disease in Owensboro.

—A little daughter of Myra Minton, living near Rosine, died last Friday morning of whooping cough. She was about two years old.

—Miss Nannie Jones will open a millinery store at Horton between April 1st and 15th. Notice of the exact time of opening will be given.

—Mr. R. A. Anderson added a strange specimen to our geological collection last week. It is of a bright green color and resembles perfectly pure sulphate of iron more than anything else.

—Those intending to use "Homestead Tobacco, Corn or Wheat Grower" would do us a favor by leaving their orders with us at once. W. H. Williams & son, Red Front.

—Our lady friends in the vicinity of Horton and Rosine will be glad to learn that Miss Nannie Jones will open a millinery store at Horton between April 1st and 15th. She has had an extended experience and will give satisfaction.

—King still has a few of the best farm wagons for sale. Call and see them before purchasing elsewhere.

—Mr. George Cummings, of Sulphur Springs, added to our museum, Saturday, a double egg, or in other words, an egg in an egg. It was a very large hen egg, and upon a hole being broken in the outside egg the other one was discovered to be a well-developed egg inside. There was also another egg in there about the size of a pea.

—Big bargains at Henry Small's, as all goods have to be sold in the next thirty days.

—Mr. James Tinsley, of Rockport has small-pox, and it is not thought he can recover. He went down the river recently and took the disease on his return. Very considerable excitement exists at and near Rockport, and in fact some uneasiness is felt here regarding the matter. No precautions in the way of vaccination are being taken that we are aware of.

—Dr. John M. Berry, of Beaver Dam, and Miss Willie, of Litchfield, were married at the residence of the bride's father, on Wednesday morning last. The marriage was quite a surprise to the friends of both parties, but was none the less a happy one for all that. We extend our heartiest congratulations to the groom and our warmest good wishes to both.

—When you come to town, put your horse in King's stable, the best and cheapest place in town to get your horse fed.

—In response to several inquiries, we will say that the organ of the M. E. Church is now fully paid for and the ladies have a receipt in full for the money. The thanks of the Sunday School, the congregation and all others concerned are due the ladies for their disinterested labors in raising the amount to lift the debt. We, and through us, Messrs. D. H. Baldwin & Co., of Louisville, from whom the organ was purchased, return our thanks for their promptness and kindness to us in the matter.

—Last Friday night a party of men got on a spree in Hartford and proceeded to raise a disturbance on all the ground in town they could cultivate. Sam Maples was one of the crowd, and he being wild drunk attacked Watt Eison. It is said, with a knife. Watt had not been in the war and could not stand to be whittled up like that. To run was out of the question, so he let fly a brick at Maples. The missile struck him just over the eye, and brought him down with a probably a cracked skull and certainly a very badly cut head. The darkey went on about his business and the Marshal kindly took charge of the wounded man and took him to jail, where he staid till morning. On being released he went to the Police office where he was tried on a charge of drunkenness and fined $5.00. Ben Hudson was arrested Saturday morning for participating in the affair, and was fined the same amount. James Tanner was also arrested and his trial set for yesterday. It occurred too late for us to get full particulars. The negro will be tried today, as will also Maples on a charge of breach of the peace. The boys declared their intention of painting the town a brilliant carmine hue, and it is proper that they pay for the paint.

—Go where the crowd goes when you want to buy anything. Where to? Why to Henry Small's.

—The funeral discourse of Lydia B. Stewart, will be preached at Green river church Ohio county, on the fifth Sunday in April, by Rev. W. W. Williams, of South Carrollton. The friends and relatives of the deceased are respectfully invited to attend.

—D. A. Arnold and Miss Vitula Duval.

—J. W. Voyles and Miss Elizabeth L. Brooks.

—W. W. Hines and Miss Sallie E. Gidcomb.

—C. Truman Sutton and Miss Etta Montague.

—M. F. Sharp and Miss George A. Davidson.

—Remember This.

—If you are sick Hop Bitters will surely aid Nature in making you well when all else fails.

—If you are constipated or dyspeptic or are suffering from any other of the numerous diseases of the stomach or bowels, it is your own fault if you remain ill for Hop Bitter is a sovereign remedy in all such complaints.

—If you are wasting away from any form of Kidney disease, stop tampering. Death is at hand, and turn for a cure to Hop Bitters.

—If you are sick with that terrible Nervousness, you will find a "Balm in Gilead" in the use of Hop Bitters.

—If you are frequent, or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all countries—malaria, epidemic, bilious, and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

—If you have rough, pimply, or shallow skin, bad breath, pains and ache, and feel miserably generally, Hop Bitters will give you fair skin, rich blood, and sweetest breath, health, and comfort.

—In short they cure Diseases of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, nerves, kidneys, Bright's disease. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

—That poor, bedridden, invalid wife, sister, mother, or daughter, can be made the picture of health or by a few bottles of Hop Bitters, costing but a trifle. Will you let them suffer!

—Mellory Notes.

—March 20, 1883.

—The coal trade is nearly at a standstill; never since the mines were opened has work been so dull, except when not running at all, and the worst part of the affair is the prospect for the near future is not at all encouraging. A considerable number of the miners will suffer unless aided in some way.

—Farmers are very busy sowing oats and making preparation for the ensuing crop. Large quantities of clover and grass seed are being sown.

—Little Lizzie Miller, who was so terribly burned sometime since, died on the 5th inst. after two weeks of fearful suffering. Lizzie was 13 years old and was a very sweet tempered and intelligent girl; she bore her suffering with remarkable fortitude for one so young and I believe she has flown to that far away kingdom whose Ruler is God.

—W. G. Duncan, the efficient Superintendent of the McHenry Coal Co., left yesterday for Louisville to be gone several days.

—A miner by the name of McGuire, left for Washington territory last week. Miss Elsie Taylor, from near Paradise, is visiting friends and relatives in our town.

—Mr. Phlegley is delivering large quantities of fruit trees here.

—David Duncan has sold his house and lot to Wm. Bennett and is now —Two juvenile drivers, on the road between Beaver Dam and town, turned their buggy over one day last week. Boys, next time watch for stumps.

—Ladies' dress goods just received that will be sold at 10 cents per yard at Henry Small's.

—If you want to double your crops use Homestead Fertilizers, for sale only at the Red Front. Sole agents for Ohio county.

—One day last week Thos. Newcomb gave his child, aged about two weeks, three drops of laudanum, and it slept about thirty-six hours before it could be aroused.

—The county Republican Committee is requested to meet at Hartford on the 14th day of April, 1883, for the transaction of important business.

—D. L. SMITH, chairman.

—Dr. W. B. Arment will be at the Hartford House on April 10th, prepared to do all kinds of dental work. Will remain but a few days. Call on him early.

—Peeck's Bad Boy is raising many hearty laughs all over the country at this time. It is not by any means thoroughly original, but some of the situations are so ludicrous as to be irresistibly laughable.

—It is better to remove than to hide complexional blemishes. Use Glenn's Sulphur Soap, not cosmetics. Sold by druggists.

—Born—Monday, March 26th, 1883, to the wife of J. H. Veller, of this place, a son. He is an energetic citizen and will probably be of great service to his papa in the Legislative canvass.

—Stephen Woodward, Esq., who has been at death's door for two weeks past with pneumonia, is improving and his hopes are now entertained of his recovery.

—All persons indebted to me will please call and settle their account. Henry Small.

—The many friends and relatives of Geo. Sweeney will regret to learn of his death, which occurred at Nashville on the 20th inst. He was a promising young man, and had hosts of friends in this county.

—The funeral discourse of Lydia B. Stewart, will be preached at Green river church Ohio county, on the fifth Sunday in April, by Rev. W. W. Williams, of South Carrollton. The friends and relatives of the deceased are respectfully invited to attend.

Editor Herald:

As I have not attempted to give you any items since I have returned to this little town, it behooves me to try and brace up.

The protracted inclemency of the weather, it is thought, will, if it continues, cause much sickness, as pneumonia is already ragging to some extent in this vicinity.

Prof. G. W. Short has charge of our school. Among those in attendance from a distance are J. S. Cole, Sunny Dale; J. W. Raley, H. Lawrence, White Oak; James Morris, L. C. Leach, White Run; J. E. Childs and J. N. Jarungin, Mt. Pleasant.

John P. Barrett, of Hartford, was in town last Friday and Saturday.

Our life time friend, B. F. Lawrence, has been appointed conductor on the C. O. & S. W. Railroad. May success attend him.

I learned last Saturday that two of our Mt. Pleasant boys had a misadventure, standing about five feet of rope that measured to be twenty-one feet long.

F. M. Hatter, near this place, has a Durham calf nine months old that will weigh about 500 pounds. Who can beat this in Ohio county?

I can't help sympathize with G. W. Short, as yesterday was too cold for him to spend Easter over on the farm.

Rev. R. C. Alexander will preach at Salem Church on Friday before the fourth Sunday in each month during the spring and summer.

Rev. G. J. Bean will preach at the above named place on the second Sunday in each month during this year.

Success to you in your "new life," cousin Editor.

J. J. Telford.

Married.

SUTTON-MONTAGUE.—At Cronwell, Ky., on Thursday evening, 22d inst., at 8 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mr. C. T. Sutton to Miss Etta Montague, only daughter of the late Judge A. P. Montague, who was one of the most prominent citizens of the county.

The bride is a beautiful brunette, amiable, intelligent, and was one of the belles of our town. Mr. Sutton is the young editor of the Hartford Herald, which, under his management, has become a prominent county paper.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. McDaniel in a graceful and impressive manner, in the presence of many admiring friends.

The bride was attired in blue silk, court train, trimmed in lace. She wore a flowing veil with pearl ornaments, and indeed looked the happy bride as she received the congratulations of her many friends. The groom was attired in the regulation black suit.

Immediately after the ceremony was performed the elegant, spacious and well-lighted dining hall was thrown open, where the table stood arranged and laden to perfection with every delicacy that heart could wish, and which was partaken of heartily by their friends.

We wish them all happiness, as they are both worthy young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutton left next morning for Hartford, where they will make their future home.

Farmers are busy putting up fences, which the water destroyed, like they mean business.

Health generally good.

I think I hear the wedding bells ringing in the distance; and not a great distance either.

Mrs. Jennie Culbertson, who has been visiting relatives in this vicinity returned to her home near Greenville last Tuesday.

Mr. Warren Marble and lady paid a flying visit to sisters, Mrs. B. D. Brown and Mrs. S. L. Falkerson, Sunday.

Miss Fannie Barnard, of Liberty, visited her grandparents, Mr. T. M. Ross and wife, Sunday last. Come again, Miss Fannie.

Dr. A. Brashear, of McLean county, has located at Smithtown.

Miss Annie Hewlett left last Sunday to take up her school at New Hope. We are very sorry to lose Annie from among us, but what is our loss, the good people of New Hope gain, and we hope she may have a pleasant time while in their midst.

James C. Bennett has gone to Evansville with a large lot of logs. It seems that sawlogging is all the go in this country.

No more at present.
